

The Coming of the Grand Trunk

Events have moved with great rapidity this week in the railroad campaign in New England.

The Boston AMERICAN desires to express its thanks to the great army of readers who responded to its call for volunteers. THEY will bring the Grand Trunk Railway system to Boston.

The AMERICAN asked for 100,000 signatures. The army which has come to the front for Boston and New England is already so near the stipulated quota that it may properly be figured as 100,000 strong. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the number of enlistments was 61,427. Within the next four days it will have reached and passed the goal.

The histories of newspapers and railroads furnish no precedent with which to compare the campaign conducted by this newspaper to bring more railroads to Boston. ITS SUCCESS IS DUE ENTIRELY TO OUR READERS.

On Sunday the AMERICAN issued its call for 100,000 petitioners, assuring New England that the Grand Trunk would come to Boston when the Grand Trunk was convinced that the people wanted it.

On Monday the Boston City Council adopted resolutions in support of the AMERICAN campaign. The vote was unanimous. The Boston AMERICAN's giant petition is headed by the signature of the Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor. Furthermore, the movement early received the hearty endorsement of Governor Foss.

Both branches of the Legislature were next to join in the appeal to the Grand Trunk. Nothing like this joint action—unanimous, too—can be found on the records at the State House.

Early next week the 100,000 signatures will be sent to Montreal and delivered at the offices of the Grand Trunk. They will be placed before the Grand Trunk board of directors. An acknowledgment of their receipt by the Grand Trunk will be published in the Boston AMERICAN.

Further information about this movement for the commercial development of Boston and the industrial development of New England will be found—exclusively, of course—in to-morrow's Sunday AMERICAN. Meanwhile, it is not too late to fill out and sign one of the petitions and get your friends and neighbors to sign with you. This is your opportunity to be one of those who really do things for Boston and New England.

The First Instalment of Mrs. Lillian M. Glover's Life Story is reprinted to-day from last Sunday's AMERICAN.

This is done for the reason that many were unable to get last Sunday's paper, so great was the demand for this fact-story that rivals anything in fiction.

It is reprinted for the further reason that it will enable thousands of readers who missed to start the story and be able to take up next Sunday's instalment with a proper appreciation of the show-drama development of the fascinating narrative.

The opening chapters of this story which are reprinted to-day contain but a faint indication of the absorbing incident and action which will be the second instalment to be printed in to-morrow's Sunday AMERICAN.

The reader of this is admonished to order to-morrow's Sunday AMERICAN immediately, as advance orders show that the demand for the paper will be unprecedented and that the dealers will probably sell out their supplies very early in the day.

The opening instalment of the story follows:

It was always plenty of work to do about the house and I had no time to play. We raised all our own food for our own consumption, and kept cows, chickens, pigs, sheep. The fact was that we raised everything that we ate and used.

When we were very poor, we made things, made petticoats and carpets, and made things that we needed. In the winter months, when the sheep and we were together, I would spin and weave. I would spin and weave the wool from the sheep and we would use it for our own use.
